

25th

Michael Klonsky, chairman of the October League (Marxist-Leninist) Los Angeles, Calif.:

We in the October League (M-L) salute the Guardian on its 25th revolutionary year. The Guardian has been a consistent fighter against imperialism and its policies of fascism, war and aggression. The rapidly changing conditions in the world have confused some and caused them to lose their bearings. However, the Guardian has remained firm in its commitment to the world struggle.

With the increased unity between the Indochinese people and the people of the U.S., the imperialists are on the verge of an historic defeat. The Guardian has been in the forefront of the struggle to build this unity. It has been a steady voice in support of the small and medium-sized countries in their struggles for national liberation, independence and an end to the bullying of the imperialists.

In the face of vicious attacks, the Guardian has taken a principled stand in support of China and the genuine socialist countries. It has fiercely fought sectarianism and has always pushed for peoples' unity. At the same time, the Guardian has refused to become a tail on the Democratic party, against great pressure.

As the working people of the U.S. have begun to awaken and take their rightful place in the vanguard of the movement, the Guardian has taken up the task of providing clarity and guidance to their struggle. Key to this has been its efforts to forge unity between the general U.S. worker's movement and the struggles of the Afro-American, Chicano, Puerto Rican, Asian-American and other peoples against national oppression. This unity is the key to victory.

We in the October League will increase our support for the Guardian and hope others will do the same. We believe that this year, the 25th Guardian year, will be a decisive one for the victory of the Indochinese people, the peoples of the world and especially the working class.
