MORE than 2,000 subs to California names could not be counted in time for this report. The papers have been started forward, however, and the actual number will be placed to California's credit next week. Failure to count extra names was due to an influx of orders for Rescue Edition. Each half dollar contributed to the California fund pays for the APPEAL until after the next presidential election to some California non-Socialist voter.

SHOAF IS SLUGGED!

Strange Disappearance of Appeal's Correspondent Working on McNamara Case---Documents Disappear.

George H. Shoaf, staff correspondent of the Appeal to Reason, who has been working up the Times explosion case in Los Angeles, is reported missing. Circumstances point to kidnaping or possibly worse. He may have been killed outright and his body hidden or destroyed; or, while unconscious, taken to some unknown place and will be held until after the trial of the McNamaras, so that the evidence he has secured may not be used. The documents he had have disappeared. He had written that he was going to print in the Rescue Edition of the Appeal the name of the man Otis hired to destroy the Times, and submit sufficient evidence to warrant the indictment of Otis for the crime. He returned to his room at about 11 o'clock Sunday night, August 13. The landlady says she heard the sound of scuffling and the fall of a heavy body. The next morning Shoaf's hat, badly battered, and a bludgeon loaded with lead were found in the hall, and Shoaf had disappeared. The manuscript he was to have sent has not come, and it is presumed someone who knew of its nature and purpose put him out of the way. The Appeal has put Shoaf's father, formerly chief of police of San Antonio, Texas, on the case to hunt his son. It will be remembered the Appeal three weeks ago printed a private message from Shoaf saying that his danger was great, he being shadowed everywhere he went, but the Appeal had confidence in his ability to care for himself, and is profoundly shocked at the outcome.

The Appeal has no information other than that contained in the telegrams from Alexander Irvine and Job Harriman, and the Associated Press dispatch printed on this page. Any new developments will be reported in special editions from day to day.

SHOAF'S DISAPPEARANCE

The slugging of Shoaf and his mysterious disappearance is the most sensational aspect of the labor war in California to date.

Its significance lies in the fact that Shoaf had secured evidence which would have freed the McNamaras and convicted Otis of procuring the destruction of the Times building.

When you consider that so soon as the matter was reported to the police the very detective who was under indictment for the kidnaping of the McNamaras was put on the case and that he had access to Shoaf's room, you begin to understand the meaning of it all. Shoaf's battered hat and the implement that had been used to reduce him to unconsciousness if not in killing him outright were taken by this detective to the document room of the police and apparently the matter was dropped.

This is in full accord with the entire brutal methods adopted by the detectives in prosecuting the McNamara case.

The APPEAL knows no more about what has become of Shoaf than you do. He may have been killed outright and his body hidden or destroyed. He may have been only stunned and conveyed to some joint where he could be held until the McNamara trial was over, so that his damaging evidence would not appear. Anyhow it is evident that a great crime has been committed, not only against Shoaf but also against the working class of the entire United States.

There is not a man in America who has unearthed more of the desperate plots of capitalism against the workers than has George H. Shoaf. Capitalism hated him because it feared him and it is no small wonder that it has resorted to the worst crime in the calendar to get rid of him. In doing that, however, it has merely added another incident to the indictment that the people are bringing against it and for which it will have to answer.

George H. Shoaf gave his life to the cause, utterly fearless and absolutely true to the interests of the workers. He has exercised his unusual talents in behalf of those who toil. It seems that at last he has made the supreme sacrifice of martyrdom.

The APPEAL will do everything in its power to discover the cowardly assassin and the monetary influence behind him.

This cowardly, criminal, capitalist act has aroused the staff as never before, for American labor has never faced a situation as grave as this. Within a week Warren and Wayland will be on deck. Debs will issue his statement in the Rescue edition next week, and you may be sure it will be a ringing one.

It is time for the workers of America to arouse to a realization of the unconscionable tyranny that is lashing them into actual slavery.

SHOAF'S LAST VICTORY

As a result of the APPEAL's exposure of conditions in the Leavenworth penitentiary, F. E. Hines, superintendent of construction, has been forced to quit. The telegram ordering his retirement came on August 14 addressed to Warden McClaughey, and reads as follows:

"You are hereby instructed to notify F. E. Hines that after a furlough of thirty days his services will be no longer required.—Wickersham, Attorney General."

Hines at once declared that he would retire September 1st without accepting the thirty days furlough. Hines was proven guilty of mismanagement if not of graft in connection with constructing the new buildings at Leavenworth. Instead of being given a furlough before dismissal he should have been prosecuted by the attorney general, for misuse of public funds. The very fact that Lemon and Hines are not prosecuted indicates that the federal government is part and parcel of the crookedness that has characterized the management at Leavenworth. It is looking out, not for the interests of the people but for the few friends that can work politics in its behalf.

How the News Was Received

The first intimation had of the disappearance of Shoaf came in the form of a telegram from Alexander Irvine, who is now in Los Angeles in charge of a church. The telegram follows:

"Shoaf missing since Sunday night. Battered hat and piece rubber hose filled with lead found in hallway. Police baffled in search. Do you know anything of him?"

"ALEXANDER IRVINE."

Appeal Asks Information

Immediately the Appeal sent out the following telegram to Job Harriman, one of the attorneys in the McNamara case:

"Irvine reports Shoaf missing since Sunday night. Start search. Spare no expense. Draw on the Appeal for all funds needed. Keep us informed daily by wire."

"APPEAL TO REASON."

Harriman Wires Particulars

On Thursday morning, August 17th, the Appeal received from Job Harriman in answer to its telegram of inquiry the following:

"Shoaf disappeared Sunday night. Called on cousin. Spent evening there and left at 9.30. Told them of success of his efforts to run down perpetrator of 'Times' outrage. Said was going to spring the biggest sensation of the whole case. Told Irvine had succeeded in effort and thought would send story to Appeal this week. Told Irvine Sunday afternoon was going to remove valuable papers and data from his room. Understood him to say was going to take it to cousin for safe keeping. At midnight Mrs. Gable and others of family heard scuffle followed by terrific sound of falling body. Next morning Shoaf's derby hat, crushed, and hose pipe filled with lead found in front hall. Police notified and James Hosick, police detective who is under indictment for kidnaping John McNamara in Indianapolis, was put on the case. He took hat and hose pipe to station, labeled it and threw in property clerk's room. Shoaf's name on inside of hat. Story kept from newspapers and relatives; made public today. Held off hoping Shoaf would return. Has recently expressed belief Burns operatives were on his trail. Been taking great chances in his investigation. Have put Wolfe on case and he is leaving no stone unturned in his investigation."

"JOB HARRIMAN."

Shoaf's Last Letter

The last word that was heard from Shoaf himself is in the form of a letter sent C. L. Phifer of the Appeal editorial staff under date of August 12th. It is a remarkable document from the fact that it outlines the matter which he had been able to dig up during his six weeks' efforts in Los Angeles. The mere fact that he was ready to "charge Otis with the full responsibility of the 'Times' explosion, naming the man he hired to destroy the building," and that he intended to present "facts and circumstances more than sufficient to warrant the immediate indictment of Otis by the grand jury" gives a motive for the murder of this intrepid investigator. Perhaps the contents of this letter in some way got into the hands of Otis' friends, and as a result Shoaf was made away with. In the letter Shoaf expresses his opinion that he might fall a victim to sluggers employed by Otis. The concluding paragraph of this letter will become in time a revolutionary classic. A better analysis of Shoaf's character it would be impossible to make than that he himself makes in this letter. When he says, "All that I am and have and hope to be long ago I dedicated to the work of bringing about the emancipation of those who toil," he reveals the devotion that is the very heart of the Socialist movement. And his closing phrase, "Yours for Socialism," shows that he faltered not to the last. Following is the letter:

Los Angeles, Cal., August 12, 1911.

My Dear Phifer—In another cover I am sending you some photographs and drawings of the "Times" building. Two of the photographs MUST be returned to (name withheld by the Appeal). Be sure that he gets the two photographs.

By Monday night I expect to have my story in-shape to send it to you. It is a hot one and will create consternation from coast to coast. In it I charge Otis with the full responsibility of "The Times" explosion, naming the man he hired to destroy the building. The story will contain statements and facts and features, and the relation of circumstances, more than sufficient to warrant the immediate indictment of Otis by the grand jury. As the story will shortly be with you I will not discuss it here.

At one time I expected to fall victim to sluggers employed by Otis, but I believe now I have thrown suspected ones completely off and will emerge unscathed. Of course, after the publication of my story there is no telling what these fellows may try to do. But I have a good revolver and I never go unarmed. Besides, I am not afraid, and that is nine-tenths of the battle. . . .

I want to do the best I can at all times. This fight with me is the business of my life. All my life I have sacrificed and toiled for my ideal. I am never with my family, much as I would love to be, and more than once I have incurred personal danger in the performance of my work for the Appeal. All that I am and have, and hope to be, long ago I dedicated to the work of bringing about the emancipation of those who toil. I am satisfied. If I can educate my children and enable my wife to dodge the potter's field I will be content. I may not have done much—I don't suppose I have—but I am square and sincere and full of fight, and I am no quitter.

Yours for Socialism,

GEO. H. SHOAF.

SOCIALIST DETECTIVE SLUGGED

Battered Hat of G. H. Shoaf, Who Was Working in McNamara Case, Found.

Associated Press Report.

Los Angeles, California, August 16.—George H. Shoaf, a Socialist writer and detective who recently came to Los Angeles to write articles on the McNamara case for the APPEAL to Reason of Girard, Kansas, and to work out a theory of the destruction of the Los Angeles Times Building, disappeared in a mysterious manner Sunday night. Early in the evening Shoaf had a consultation with Alex Irvine, the Socialist lecturer. He declared that he had secured some very valuable information and had valuable papers in his possession. The results of his investigation, he told Irvine, were of the most sensational sort. From 7 o'clock until 9:30 o'clock Sunday night he was at the home of his cousin, Mrs. H. O. Gable, at 1026 1-2 West Ninth Street. Upon leaving he told Mrs. Gable that he was going to take some important papers from his room because he feared that they might be stolen.

That was the last seen of him. About midnight Mrs. Borman was startled by the sound of a falling body. On investigation she found nothing. Early Monday morning Shoaf's hat, badly battered up, and a piece of weighted hose was found in the hallway of the Gable home. The hose was about fourteen inches in length, weighted with shot or some heavy material. It was evidently intended for a bully. The police admitted the above facts today.

THE ETERNAL BATTLE

From late interview by J. J. McNamara.

"Regardless of the outcome of the charges against me, the eternal battle between the employer and the employer will go on. I am a mere incident—only an individual—in the fight and if I am hanged somebody will take my place. Leaders are only individuals."

"I did not start this strife; it started years ago when the men of Europe were slaves. It is the rebellion of the oppressed against the oppressor. The unrest is general; it is world-wide. It is the fight of the plutocrat against the man who works."

The life of an ordinary structural iron worker is ten years. We have a membership of 20,000 and each month our death toll reaches twenty. This all goes to show the hazard of the life and work of the structural iron worker.

"It was in 1902 that the steel trust first started its fight with the laborer. At first it was directed against the men who worked in the rolling and rod mills. In August of 1905 they opened the fight on the structural iron workers. They adopted the policy of no quarter and since then they have done everything with the big 'E.' They are doing it right now—the persecution of my brother and I is an illustration of what they will do."

"The National Erectors' association is one of the organizations through which the fight is being carried. This organization was formed to kill the labor unions and to promote the nonunion shops."

"Labor organizations are not criminal nor cruel. They do not believe in dynamiting. They want to get a decent wage and a little safety in their work. I feel optimistic."

"It is the question of human right against corporate capital."

Mr. Giltrucks—Well, Laura, we start for Europe next week for a six months' tour, so tell Mama to get you ready as soon as she can...

Laura—But Papa, who will look after the factory when you are away?

Giltrucks—O, I am going to shut down the factory for six months. There has been an over-production, and lots of other factories will do the same.

Laura—But what will the two thousand men and women that work in your factory do to earn money to pay their rent and to buy food?

Giltrucks (yawning)—I'm sure I don't know. They'll manage to worry along somehow.

Laura—Will the government give them food and pay their rent?

Giltrucks—No.

Laura—Ah, now I know; the republican party will do it.

Giltrucks—I don't think they will, my child. The republican party was not organized for that purpose.

Laura—Then the democratic party will do it, so it can get their votes?

Giltrucks—No. Political parties don't have to pay that much for votes; they couldn't afford it.

Laura—Then if I were those poor people don't you know what I'd do? I'd get together and vote that the factories never would close and that every one should get work whenever he wanted it so that nobody willing to work would get hungry or cold for want of food and clothing.

Giltrucks—God only knows, my child, God only knows. God will take care of them, I suppose.

THE PRESIDENTIAL VETO

President Taft has thrown off the mask. Not only has he announced a cessation of the prosecution of the criminal capitalists...

His action in vetoing the statehood bill of Arizona and New Mexico because of the provision for the recall of judges is a usurpation of authority and an insult to popular government.

The logic he employs in the veto is rotten. In the very start he says: "It may be argued from the text of the enabling act that in giving or withholding the approval under the act my only duty is to examine the proposed constitution..."

To this position he takes exception. He practically admits that the constitution of Arizona is in full accord with the provisions of the national government, but merely because he as an individual representative of capitalism does not like the provision for the recall of the judges...

A popular government is not a government of a majority, by a majority, for a majority of the people. It is a government of the whole people, by a majority of the whole people...

The president argues further concerning the judges: "They are not popular representatives. On the contrary, to fill their offices properly they must be independent."

Independent of what? Independent of the people or independent of the influence of capitalists? Taft is not arguing for that independence toward the domination of capitalism, which is absolutely essential to secure justice for the people...

It is well that the farce is ended in this way. The people have imagined that something was about to be done for them. But now you know that the thing that is done is yours. You know that Taft has sanctioned a cessation of prosecution of capitalists for actual crime...

The APPEAL this week prints a story from Arizona telling about the corruption of the judges where there is no such thing as responsibility toward the people. It is commended to the attention of the fat president, who by his message to the people upholds this sort of thing...

Down with the veto. Down with an irresponsible judiciary. Instead of serving the people, as it is supposed to do, the government takes possession of the industries and running them so as to assure profit to the holders of stocks and bonds...

CROSSED WIRES.

"Hark, from the tombs a doleful sound!" The Chicago Inter-Ocean is using the same line of "arguments" against Socialism that were in vogue ten years ago...

PERKINS' PERNICIOUS PLAN.

Perkins, the former partner of John Pierpont Morgan, demands that the government take charge of the big industries and regulate the amount of profit that is permitted them to make.

J. Mahlon Barnes, national secretary of the Socialist party, has resigned. The resignation was accepted by the national executive committee and John M. Work, who has been head clerk in the national office...

OF COURSE.

Of course you have voted right and are not responsible for present conditions. The other old party voter thinks so too. You, of course, have read many works on land, on finance, on transportation, on labor, and have your knowledge from first hands...

One Hoss Philosophy

Ruin follows the working people who follow the republican party. This is the contest of brains against bullets and ideas against ignorance. Prosperity waits on the decent burial of the republican and democratic parties.

UNCLE SAM, MERCHANT.

Colonel Goethals, who as head of the Panama canal work has included socialistic management of practically everything there, recently testified before the congressional committee on interstate commerce and created a decided sensation. Relative to the future of the Panama canal he said:

Watch the Selsnographs

If Shoaf's evidence against Otis was destroyed when he disappeared what will remain of the Rescue Edition? Plenty, a great plenty. The Sunday school lesson a few weeks ago told of an ancient geek who was called down by the prophet...

Power of the Movement

The working people of England stood still and the nation is shaken. They refused to work, and the mistress of the seas is helpless before them. They spoke with their ballots, and the lords surrendered their veto.

Socialists at Work

I have returned from an extended agitation tour through the southwest which included one week enroute through central Oklahoma, from north to south, one week in Texas, and the return week through eastern Oklahoma.

Asking About Socialism

The Full Social Product. If a man under Socialism gets his full product and pays no taxes, where will the money be had to run the government? The phrase used by Socialists, except when carelessly employed, is the "full social product" not the full product. This is a double modifier.

Join the Movement

Join the Movement. Get in the tide of oncoming life. Live now the highest possible life, and prepare the world for higher than it has known. And through it all carry one thought alone, one thought ever and always: VICTORY, VICTORY, VICTORY!
