New Russo-Chinese Pact Hits Imperialists

LAFOLLETTE IS ALLOWED TO GO BEFORE VOTERS

Workers Party to Fight Action in Michigan

(Special to The Daily Worker)
DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 7.—The secretary of state of Michigan has dug deep into the hoary records of the election laws, and has attempted to bar the Communist presidential electors, pledged to William Z. Foster and Benjamin Gitlow, presidential and vice-presidential candidates of the Workers Party, on an ancient technicality, altho the LaFollette presidential electors, governed by the same technicality, have been officially placed on the ballot.

The Workers Party has engaged counsel to fight to a finish for the right to go before the workers of Michigan as the only political party in the campaign representing the working class.

See Catering to LaFollette.
While Bert Chilton, deputy secretary of state, has wired all county clerks to place LaFollette's name on the ballot, he has sent a wire to keep the Foster-Gitlow electors off the ballot. Evidently having nothing to fear from LaFollette, and knowing that Foster and Gitlow will poll a tremendous vote for workers' and farmers' control of government, the employing class of Michigan is thus catering to LaFollette.

Cyril Lambkin declared the Workers party will fight to the last ditch to rescind the order of the deputy secretary of state. The discrimination shown against the Communists is firmly based on an attorney general's ruling that the party has not complied with the primary and election laws in the requirements that the state central committee must be elected in odd years. Altho exactly the same technicality applies to LaFollette, no obstacle has been placed in his way by the Michigan capitalists.

New Red Baiting Begins.
Detroit papers are taking the opportunity to come out with stories denouncing the "reds," and hinting that the Workers Party should be kept off the ballot because "it is affiliated with the Moscow soviet party."

GARY'S STEEL TRUST REAPS RICH PLUNDER BY TURNING REAL ESTATE SHARK TO SELL WORKERS "HOMES"

GARY, Ind., Oct. 7.—The Gary Land company, subsidiary of the United States Steel corporation, makes feudal serfs out of the steel workers by selling them, at an enormous profit, cheaply built houses which it takes the steel workers ten years and more to pay for.

WORLD FORCES CLASH IN CHINA

Imperialists War Against National Movement in Southern China.

At the end of August last telegrams from China reported that the Sun-Yat-Sen government had seized a steamer with a cargo of weapons, which had arrived from an English port in the chief port of the Kwantung province and was destined for the English comprador in China, Tscheng-Lin-Pak. This merchant stands at the head of the military troops set up for the protection of the property of the Chinese merchants in the province of Kwantung. At the congress of this body held in May of this year, it was decided to centralize all these divisions of troops. This was an indication that the Chinese merchants, along with the village profiteers and with the support of the English imperialists, were preparing an action against the revolutionary people's party, against Sun-Yat-Sen.

Sun's Hands Tied.
The relations of power between the government party Koumintang, and the merchants who were organizing against it were such that at the time Sun-Yat-Sen did not decide to disarm these counter-revolutionary bands. Sun-Yat-Sen even assumed that he would succeed without having recourse to force in gradually gaining control of these military forces; he intended to use them in the fight against the reactionary general

THE NEW WORLD WAR

THE great powers are conducting in China maneuvers that are probably the preliminaries to a new world war. Just as the struggle of the entente and central powers for the balance of power in the Balkans and contiguous territory to which they were the key resulted in the shambles of 1914-18, so does the conflict for the privilege of exploiting China point inevitably to the outbreak of another titanic struggle.

China is the last great field for potential exploitation which combines two necessities for imperialistic enterprise—First: Enormously rich natural resources; Second: A population of millions from which the requisite cheap labor can be recruited.

The strategy of the great powers has had as its object the dismembering of China and its apportionment among themselves. The rising tide of national and workingclass consciousness which tends to unite the Chinese population against the foreign exploiter has become a tremendous obstacle to the plans of the imperialist. They now promote internal strife and thereby hope to be able to pounce upon and devour a China that has been exhausted by internecine warfare. The following article describes in detail the two important factors in the Chinese situation—the crystallization of the national and workers' movement and the efforts of the great powers to prevent China becoming a nation.

Tscheng-Lin-Pak, who was supported by the English imperialists. Sun-Yat-Sen did not perceive the spiritual unity between the reactionary movement of this general and the action of the merchants which was preparing. He was also not aware that behind the of Sun-Yat-Sen, and finally the English cruisers and gun-boats at Canton, revealed to Sun-Yat-Sen the counter-revolutionary policy of the merchants and English imperialists.

Sun-Yat-Sen to MacDonald.
In a telegram addressed to MacDonald on the 5th of September, Sun-Yat-Sen declared the following:

"To the Right Honorable Ramsay MacDonald:

"The head of the Hongkong-Shanghai Banking Corporation has organized a band of so-called Fascists, the purpose of which is the overthrow of my government. This aim is to be achieved by means of arming rebels and with the help of arms and weapons which were brought here on board the ship 'Gaf.' This steamer arrived on the 10th of August at Canton, and was immediately confiscated by my government. Since then a revolt has occurred in Canton in the form of a strike, which the rebels, together with all other counter-revolutionaries, have organized. At the moment when I decided to take the necessary measures against the revolt, the English General Consul sent to my government the following letter:

"I have received from the commander of the British naval forces the information that he has received orders from Hongkong to adopt suitable measures in the event of a bombarding of Canton by the Chinese authorities."

"In view of the diplomatic and financial support which the British government has constantly afforded to the Chinese counter-revolution, and also in view of the fact that my government is at present the only center of resistance against this counter-revolution, I must draw the following conclusion, that the real aim of this ultimatum is the overthrow of my government. I emphatically protest against this recent act of imperialist interference in the inner affairs of China.

"Sun-Yat-Sen."
The chief reason which prompted the English imperialists to come forward openly as the initiators of counter-revolution in South China was the consolidation of the Chinese bourgeoisie, as well as the powerful revolutionizing of the broad masses of the rural and town population of South China.

National Solidarity Increases Fast.

The congress of the workers and craftsmen of Canton, which took place almost simultaneously with the congress of the mercantile military forces, has shown that the Chinese masses are proceeding rapidly forward on the road of class consciousness, and are exerting pressure upon the democratic Koumintang Party in the sense of rendering this more revolutionary.

BIG RAILROAD IN CHINA GOES UNDER SOVIETS

U. S. Dollar Diplomats Do Not Like It

(Special to The Daily Worker)

SHANGHAI, Oct. 7.—Soviet Russia and China have concluded an agreement whereby they will work jointly for ridding the entire territory of the Chinese people from foreign imperialist interests.

For some time the Soviet Republic has been making it increasingly uncomfortable for the foreign interests in China. This agreement comes as a climax of the Soviet campaign to help the Chinese redeem their country.

Soviets to Run Railroad.

The agreement decrees the turning over of the Chinese Eastern Railway to Soviet administration. This decision puts the quietus on the plans of the imperialist powers to take over the principal Chinese roads on the pretense of preventing the transportation of troops and thus pacifying the country. This suggestion originated in the camp of the British interests which proposed that the United States should take the lead in such intervention.

The Soviet embassy and consular offices have been thrown wide open in Shanghai and Peking. Red flags are flying at full mast in both cities. In Peking a rousing reception was tendered the Communist Ambassador, Karakhan.

Irritates Americans.

This manifestation of genuine friendship to the Soviet government in the area of China under the control of Peking is proving especially irritating to the American and other imperialist groups. The latter had been looking forward to the Peking government revoking its recognition of Soviet Russia, because of her arrangement with General Chang regarding the disposal of the Manchurian Railway.

Soviet Ambassador Karakhan views the friendly trend in Russian-Chinese relations as dealing "a crushing blow to imperialist states, destroying their last chance to grab the Eastern railway."

For Russo-Chinese Friendship.

The strengthening bonds of Russo-Chinese friendship are proving a unifying force in China and are undoing the chaotic effects of years of foreign imperialist intervention. It is this growing unity of the Chinese people in close alliance with the Soviet Republic that the American and European imperialist powers fear most. They see in this move the greatest dangers to their program of Chinese dismemberment. America is especially hard hit because she counted on her puppet, Wei Pu Fu to fight Soviet Russia.

SOUTH VANCOUVER, B. C., Oct. 7.—The Canadian Pacific railway has been compelled to live up to the fair wage act in work done in South Vancouver.

WEST MADISON ST. HEARS MAURER TALK ABOUT THE CAMPAIGN

The Workers' Party invaded the LaFollette open air camp Tuesday night when George Maurer spoke to the free lancers gathered at Madison and Green Sts. Maurer devoted most of his speech to exposing the LaFollette regime in Wisconsin. He pointed out the fact that LaFollette's supposed record as a friend of labor is a colossal fraud. Maurer mentioned that Wisconsin has a national guard which is smaller than few in the country. Maurer told how the open shoppers flocked to Wisconsin from all over the country because LaFollette's regime protects the employers and insures them of a cheap labor supply and plenty of profits. A meeting will be held tonight at the corner of 32nd and Halsted Sts., where Victor Zokaitis and Karl Reeve will be the speakers.

MINNEAPOLIS "RED BAITERS" IN LAST STAND TRY TO SMASH THE LOCAL TRADES AND LABOR ASSEMBLY

By LESLIE R. HURT.
(Special to The Daily Worker)

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Oct. 7.—That "labor fakery" will resort to the most despicable tactics in their mad effort to protect their "pie cards" is proven by the action taken by local conservative labor men in publishing thru the columns of "The Minnesota," a "red-baiting" sheet edited by Louis Harthill, a call for the formation of a new central labor body in Minneapolis.

It might be explained here and now that Harthill was formerly chief of police under the administration of "Pa" Van Lear, war-time socialist mayor of Minneapolis.

Republican Camp Follower.
Both of these leading lights have been so thoroughly discredited in the eyes of honest trade unionists that neither are ever seen around labor headquarters.

During the recent state primaries, Harthill, it is alleged, was up on the Iron Range counselling the workers to vote for "General" Geo. E. Leach, candidate for the republican nomination for governor of Minnesota. Leach is at the present time mayor of Minneapolis, thus the Harthill-Leach-Van Lear combination is quite understandable.

The call is signed by seven local labor unions and is to be held Friday, Oct. 10, at the headquarters of the Cooks' Union. Leslie Sinton, secretary of the Cooks' and Waiters' organization, has consistently aligned himself with the "labor wrecking" crew in the Trades and Labor Assembly ever since his release from the County jail where he, together with three other organizers, was confined because of the violation of an injunction secured by the Citizens' Alliance restraining organized labor from picketing the "scab" Wonderland Theater.

Whether or not Sinton had become afflicted with "cold feet" is left to the imagination of the readers. The fact of the matter is, however, Sinton is one of the leading figures in this latest attempt to smash the labor movement and the meeting is to be held in the hall under his jurisdiction.

Roll Call of Wreckers.
The following named organizations are listed as signers of the "call to

DEVER SAYS HE IS HELPLESS IN WAR ON WEALTH

Mayor Dever admitted his absolute helplessness before the power of the wealthy class, and declared he couldn't do a thing to help the teachers, in an interview with the DAILY WORKER yesterday.

"I can't do a thing to help the teachers," said the mayor, to the DAILY WORKER, admitting his impotence in a situation affecting 400,000 school children and ten thousand teachers in the city over which he is mayor.

Cater to Wealth.

"As long as there are wealthy men there will be men in office who will cater to them. And no matter how good and promising these men are when put into office, they will cater to wealth after they are in office a while."

When asked why he spurned the teachers' meeting, if he professed such warm regard for the fight they are making against tax dodgers, mayor Dever said, "I didn't want to sit there and be told what to do."

"But I'm with Miss Haley all the way in her fight against the tax dodgers," Dever said. "I think what Miss Haley says about the tax dodgers is absolutely correct." The mayor made no concrete promises other than moral support, however.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 7.—Police have notified authorities at Milwaukee, Wis., to try and locate relatives of A. J. Brand, 65, floorwalker for a downtown store here, who was found dead here.

THOUSANDS TO HEAR PLEA FOR SACCO, VANZETTI

Thousands of Chicago workmen and women are expected to attend the meeting at the West Side Auditorium tonight, to protest against the action of Judge Thayer, of the state superior court of Massachusetts, in denying a new trial to Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti, the two Italian-American militants who for two years have lain in prison on a frame-up charge of murder.

Antonio Presi, editor of "Il Lavoratore," Italian Communist daily, will speak to the workers in Italian. Alexander Bittelman, will address the crowd in Jewish and William F. Dunne will speak in English.

All three speakers will show how the "conviction" of Sacco and Vanzetti is typical of the tactics of the American courts of justice in relieving the American labor movement of all militant workers.

The Workers Party hopes to raise a sum sufficient to cover the cost of a new trial for Sacco and Vanzetti. The West Side Auditorium is at Racine and Davis streets.

FRANCE TO RECOGNIZE RUSSIA

(Special to The Daily Worker)

PARIS, Oct. 7.—Premier Herriot's committee appointed to study methods of recognizing Soviet Russia has decided that France shall immediately extend de jure recognition to the Soviet government. The full de jure recognition will be formally extended by France not later than Oct. 20, officials here declare. The decisions of the committee have been transmitted to Washington, in view of the unwritten agreement between the United States and France, that the same attitude be taken by the two countries toward the Soviets.

Some reports in Paris had it that the United States is anxious to change its attitude toward the Soviet government, and put pressure behind France to take the lead toward recognition.

Other sources, however, pointed out that France is practically a bankrupt nation, with the Dawes plan burdening the nation with the collar of J. P. Morgan's gold, and millions of workers clamoring for Soviet recognition. The friendly attitude of Japan toward the Soviet government, with the impending trade agreement between the two nations, and the Manchurian government's recent overtures to the Soviet government, have made France realize that her unfriendly relations with the Soviet government were quickly taking from her the Asiatic trade markets.

Altho the committee announces that the czarist debts must be paid, Herriot's change toward Russia is regarded by all as a surrender to necessity. Herriot had many times bombastically stated that France would have no dealings with Soviet Russia until the old czaristic debts were paid to France's financiers. He has been forced by the growing influence of the Soviet government with both European and Asiatic countries, to bring France into line in an effort to rehabilitate France's decaying economic structure.

LABOR PLACES TRIBUNE ON ITS LIST OF SCABS

Non-Union Work Puts Up Newspaper's Tower

Another indictment of the open shop Chicago Tribune, as an enemy of labor, was added to the list of many condemnations by labor organizations, Monday night, when the Painters' district council No. 14, having jurisdiction over all the painters in Cook County, placed the Chicago Tribune on the unfair list.

The Painters' District Council, which has for many years looked with an unfriendly eye on the anti-labor union activities of the Tribune, declares the Chicago Tribune to be unfair to organized labor because it has let the contracts for the "Tribune Tower" to non-union contractors.

Work Under Landis Award. The painting for the Tribune tower will be done by the firm of J. B. Noelle, which does its work under the infamous "open shop" Landis award.

Between thirty and forty painters are to do painting work on the Tribune tower under the scab working conditions.

When the Tribune office was asked for a statement with regard to the letting of their contracts to non-union firms, no one in the Tribune organization seemed to know anything about the matter. Mr. Cadell, in the office where the contracts were let, refused to make any statement to the DAILY WORKER.

A secretary to the business manager told the DAILY WORKER: "Our attitude is well known to organized labor. The union men know we are friendly to them."

When asked by the DAILY WORKER reporter if it didn't seem a little inconsistent to let contracts to non-union firms he secretary replied that it did, but "You better talk to Mr. Onderdonk."

Praise Open Shop Plan. This worthy gentleman, who has charge of the letting of the contracts, was strangely absent, but his office referred the DAILY WORKER to the business manager of the Tribune. There is was stated that the business manager was out of town, and no statement could be made by the Tribune until his return. Representatives of the company were loud in their praise of the "Landis award," which is a fancy name for "open shop," non-union conditions in the building industry.

Says 12 per cent is Average. DETROIT.—There has been a good deal of conversation and publicity about the "legitimate profits" of capitalists, the impression being given that legitimacy ended at about 6 per cent. Sen. James Couzens of Michigan, addressing a Kiwanis convention at Ann Arbor, defended his ownership of millions of tax-exempt government bonds as follows: "The average price on federal, state or municipal bonds is between 4 and 4 1/2 per cent. In other words, despite the surtax, I would have been much better off if I had invested my capital in manufacturing interests and received only the average return of 12 per cent than I am after having invested in tax-exempt governmental bonds."

Bryan Knows Just What's Wrong. MOUNTAIN VIEW, Cal., Oct. 7.—Bill Bryan is alternating his democratic campaign speeches with anti-evolution propaganda. Speaking under the auspices of the Seventh Day Adventists in Mountain View, he stated that all the ills from which America suffers can be traced back to the teaching of evolution. "It would be better to destroy every other book ever written, and save just the first three verses of Genesis," he declared.

STEEL TRUST REAPS RICH PLUNDER

Hundreds Lose Their Homes. Many hundreds of the steel workers have lost their homes and their savings by being fired before their houses were paid for, the houses reverting to the steel corporation. Houses are cheaply built by the company, with no conveniences, and cost more than similar structures in Chicago.

One of the latest subdivisions to be built up by the steel trust, the eleventh subdivision, is typical of the land profiteering carried on by the steel trust. Houses here are built of stucco, without a cellar or basement, with four small rooms. They cost the steel workers from $4,000 to $6,000.

One of these little houses, the occupants told me, cost $3,700. In addition it cost $365 to install a dry air heating system, $250 to have a cellar dug, in addition to the six per cent interest charged by the Gary steel company for "lending" the workers the money.

The eleventh subdivision, of average size, runs from 11th Ave. to 16th Ave., and from Madison Ave to Grant Ave., being five blocks by ten in size. Two houses are being built on one of the streets near Madison which are to cost the steel workers' families $9,000 plus the interest. A house of five rooms, without the basement and without the heating plant, cost $6,000, the occupants told me. "We pay $43.00 a month toward the house," the man of this house told me. "We had to pay $550 down before the company would start building. We installed our own cellar and heating plant. If we neglect to pay the installment, even for only one month, the steel company raises the interest, and for every month we fall to pay the interest is raised a little higher. The company does not care whether we are working or not—the same rules hold."

Must Buy; Can't Rent. A steel worker who went into the offices of the Gary Land company asking to rent a house was told by Mr. Cohen, who works for the steel corporation, "We haven't rented any houses for four years. You'll have to buy a lot from us first, and then we lend you the money at six per cent interest to have the house built, by the contractor. The average lot costs around $800. We don't start building the house until you get the lot entirely paid for."

The biggest complaint of the steel workers against the Gary Land company is that in buying a house they become greatly obligated to the steel corporation. They must cling to their jobs at all costs, as there is no other work in Gary except in the steel mills. There are at least 3,000 steel workers laid off in Gary at the present time, and most of the others are working on half time or less.

Their house payments are falling behind, and meantime interests and debts are piling up. The workers cannot move away from Gary if they want to retain the money invested in their homes. Thus the steel corporation, besides reaping immense profits from the steel workers, wields a constant threat over the steel workers to "be good little boys and not talk unionism."

The steel trust, while it is very exacting toward the collection of rents from the workers, spends money liberally to build up the churches of the town. It is a well known fact that every large sized church in Gary is controlled by the steel trust. The Russian orthodox church recently received a "loan" of over $5,000 from the U. S. Steel corporation, it is declared by members of the congregation.

Church Much in Evidence. Near the eleventh subdivision are four church buildings and three large priest houses in one block. This is the block running from Madison to Monroe and from 12th to 13th Aves. The Slovak Roman catholic church, with father Ignatz Steponcheck in his immense priest house, the Greek catholic church, a gorgeous new building costing thousands of dollars, and the Slovak Greek church, with father Lucas in his twelve-room brick priest house, all of which are on this block, all received money from the steel trust, old residents of the town stated, either to build new churches or to keep their church going.

Directly across from these churches is the commodious armory where the 113th engineers regiment is stationed. The armory, which covers an entire block, was built on land originally owned by the steel trust. After buying these houses for exorbitant prices, living in the shadow of the steel trust churches and the guns of the soldiers, the steel workers must pay monthly doles to the Gary Gas, Heat and Water company, which is also owned by the steel corporation. The minimum charge for gas paid to the steel trust coffers is $1.00 every month, the minimum charge for electricity $1.00 per month, and for water 75 cents per month. The rate charged for water by the steel trust averages $2.00 per year more than the rate charged for water in Chicago. The Chicago charge for gas, is 95 cents per 1,000 cubic feet, but the steel trust charges $1.00 per 1,000 cubic feet or five cents more for every 1,000 cubic feet than is charged in Chicago.

Holds Monopoly on Housing. The steel trust is carrying its feudal system of control of the workers to a greater extent in the erection of the new tube works on the eastern edge of the city. Several hundred houses are being built there in which workers will be practically forced to live because of the monopoly on Gary housing held by the steel trust. Every device is used by the steel trust to control the working and housing conditions, the living expenses, the working hours and wages, the standard of living and even the religion of the Gary slaves. Because they have no union the steel trust slaves have no control over their own lives.

POLICE ATTACK STRIKE THROUG AT PATERSON

Tried to Assemble in Front of City Hall

(Special to The Daily Worker) PATERSON, N. J., Oct. 7.—The Paterson police, after refusing the striking silk workers here permission to meet in their hall, Monday night charged into a crowd of over 2,000 strikers, arresting fifteen, beating others with their clubs and riding rough-shod over the crowd of men and women.

The strikers, led by Louise and Alice Kimball, marched from in front of Turn Hall, where they were locked out by the police, to the city hall, where open air meetings were started.

The police arrested John C. Butterworth, who was addressing the crowd, and charged into the peaceful assembly swinging their clubs on the heads of men and women alike.

Police Sergeant Kelliher ordered the raid on the crowd, altho it is well known here that the silk mill bosses are enraged at the success of the strike and are using brutal violence as a last desperate means to keep the silk workers from victory.

"The Minneapolis Trades and Labor Assembly, as it is conducted today, is but a branch of the Communist Party. Its very activities are not in harmony with the bonafide trade union movement. Two of the officers are avowed Communists and members of the Workers Party. Every action in the assembly is a direct slap to the earnest trade unionist in the American Federation of Labor. Where do you stand?

AND SO THE DAY WAS SPOILED FOR MILITARISTS' CELEBRATION

(By The Federated Press) WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—Military uniforms were massed around the south end of the state, war and navy building, martial airs were played by the band, flags were draped and paraded, and the dedication of the monument erected by the First division of the overseas forces was in full swing, when newsboys came along with a local daily in which Leonard Hall, dramatic critic for the Scripps papers, had this to say concerning "What Price, Glory":

"The play tells the truth about war, and we mustn't have any truth about war on the American stage. Some day we shall have to go and get potted for some new and high-sounding bunkum.

"No doubt, six years after Belleau, the gold braids are only too glad to forget the plain and unadorned truth—that war makes beasts of men and not armed angels in the service of God and humanity.

"The marines, in the play, fight over a blowsy French cow-girl. Enlisted men are uppity to commissioned officers, and commissioned officers are dirty, profane and libidinous. The men who went away to save the world for democracy are shown living as pigs, and acting in a way to shame the more cultured shoats.

"The assault on 'Glory' has a most amusing side. Stallings, the author, has one of those war records one sees in the movies. It is impeccable and unassailable—he fought, and very nearly died, in the heart of the hogwash of war. He knows—and he tells—and so he is a man to be feared and suppressed.

"Every man who stood face to face with the hopeless horror knows that the glistly painting is true. Stallings has simply done what every soldier thought, and tried to forget in the face of home town incredulity. Perhaps it is too bad that he had to write this play. . . . Perhaps it will be better to go back to the flour dust and clanking sabres of "Secret Service" and "Shenandoah." Then recruiting will never be hurt, and blaring bands will never be called murderers, and the red stripes in Old Glory will mean only valor—not blood. And those who come after us can read the war sonnets of Rupert Brooks, take the king's shilling, kiss their girls a long goodbye and go to some God-forsaken mouldy ditch to find out for themselves—"What Price, Glory?"

Refuses to Bind the League. LONDON, Oct. 7.—Great Britain today replied to Germany's League of Nations note intimating that no opposition would be put in the way of Germany's acquisition of a seat in the council. The note pointed out, however, that England could not bind the League to any particular course of action.

Small Shows LaFollette How the Double-Cross Is Used in Aid of Coolidge

By J. LOUIS ENGD AHL.

TODAY, Len Small is out in the open. The governor of Illinois, endorsed for re-election by the LaFollette campaign, has brazenly thrown his support to Coolidge.

Governor Small jumps onto the Coolidge bandwagon. But whom do we find hanging onto Small's coat tails? There is Frank Farrington, president of the United Mine Workers of Illinois; John H. Walker, president of the Illinois Federation of Labor; Victor Olander, secretary of the Illinois Federation of Labor; and John Fitzpatrick, president of the Chicago Federation of Labor, to mention only a few.

All dragged aboard the Coolidge bandwagon on the coat-tails of the Ku Klux Klan governor of Illinois.

Gov. Small worked an artful double-cross on the LaFollette. He withheld his open endorsement of Coolidge until the time expired for filing of petitions for independent candidates.

Early in the summer, the LaFollette campaigners had intentions of filing their own candidate. It was known that the Wisconsin senator would very much like to see Raymond Robins as his candidate for governor. But Robins, the Roosevelt Bull Moose in 1912, climbed aboard the Coolidge wagon long ago and got a front select seat.

Len Small has the support of the most reactionary labor officials in the state. So it was natural that the Bolshevik-hating senator should fall in line, and accept Governor Small, with the understanding that the governor should double-cross Coolidge, and throw whatever support he could to LaFollette. At any rate, the LaFollette campaigners plunged on Small, with the result that they have now landed in the Coolidge puddle.

It was in the local theater at Harrisburg, Illinois, where Governor Small was on the program with the regular republican candidates. The clock was fast ticking away the zero hour for filing petitions at Springfield. Speaker after speaker, delivered themselves of the usual campaign oratory, for the republican party of Wall Street, and its national standard bearer, "Strikebreaker" Coolidge. Then, with one eye on the clock, Small joined in the chorus with:

"I have been a lifelong republican and always expect to be. I approve of everything that has been said by those who spoke before me."

"That was all," comments the political reporter of the "open shop" Chicago Tribune. But evidently The Tribune feels that it was enough, as it greets the governor's return to the official republican fold with the headline, "Small at Last Gets into Step with Coolidge."

The workers and farmers of Illinois should now have an easy time deciding where to throw their support in the November elections. LaFollette tried to sell the workers and farmers to the Len Small campaign. Small, in his turn, is trying to deliver the workers and farmers to the Coolidge ticket.

In declaring war on the treachery of their own officials, who tried to straddle both the LaFollette and Coolidge campaigns, and by repudiating all capitalist political candidates, the workers and farmers of Illinois will make a good beginning in the fight for their own interests.

Against the LaFollettes, the Len Smalls and the "Cal" Coolidges, the political lackeys of the bosses, stand the Communist candidates of the Workers Party. Against Coolidge stands Foster; against Dawes stands Gitlow; and in Illinois, in the struggle for governorship, against Len Small stands the Communist candidate, William F. Dunne.

The Farringtons, Olanders, Walkers and Fitzpatricks cannot deliver the workers of Illinois to Coolidge. The workers will fight this treachery and join hands with the Communists, for the war against capitalism, for the triumph of labor.

CAPPELINI NOT AROUND WHEN COAL MINERS ARE FORCED TO FIGHT SCABS

(Special to The Daily Worker) ARCHBALD, Pa., Oct. 7.—Two thousand miners employed in the mine of the Hudson Coal company struck here yesterday because the company imported three hundred scabs in an effort to break the organization of the mine workers' union. Rinaldo Cappellini, head of the mine workers in the district around Soranton, with jurisdiction over Archbald, has not yet been heard from as to his attitude toward the strike.

MILITANTS HAVE FULL SLATE FOR STEEL WORKERS

Program for Campaign Is Already Drafted

The progressive elements in the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers are determined to give battle to the officialdom in the coming election and a full slate will appear on the ballot. All militants should take notice and work hard for the election of the following candidates:

H. M. Waddell from Granite City, Ill., against M. Tighe for president. A. M. Jennings, also from Granite City, against D. J. Davis for secretary-treasurer. James Strong from Cannonsburg, Pa., for assistant secretary, against L. Leonard, the present incumbent.

P. J. Morgan for managing editor against the present editor, Ben I. Davis. For vice-president of boiling and finishing division, William Grey against Herbert F. Reese. For vice-president, sheet and tin division, Frank Marshall against Walter Larkin.

For resident trustee, Edward D. King against Wesley Riley. For international trustee, Bert Caldwell against Thomas Godfrey and John A. Price against R. H. Lerner.

The Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers, which is practically the only organization functioning in the steel industry, has like all other unions been cursed with a reactionary leadership headed by president Tighe and secretary D. Davis.

The policy of the present leaders of the A. A. I. S. T. W. is one of class collaboration of the rankest kind, which has resulted in the organization becoming stagnant and infested even with race antagonism. Locals in some places have even become units for the K. K. Ks. The official journal looks more like a buyer's guide than a labor journal. Under the present leadership the union has developed into a mere job trust for a selected few and nothing has been done to organize the great mass of unorganized and unskilled steel workers, who in 1919 under the leadership of William L. Foster put up a great battle against their masters, but were greatly handicapped by the lukewarm attitude of such leaders as Tighe and the rest of the A. F. of L. cult that had jurisdiction in the strike.

All militant and progressive members of the union should carry on a real campaign in the various localities for the election of the above-named brothers and the organization will be able to take its place among the progressive unions in this country. We shall publish the program upon which these candidates are running in a later issue but in the meantime remember the slate.

To Organize Steel Workers. CLEVELAND, Oct. 7.—Wage reductions in the textile industry foreshadow cuts in the steel industry's payrolls also, according to John Olchon, steel workers' organizer. These two industries take the lead in the wars against the workers' pocketbooks, Olchon says, because they are largely unorganized. Quiet work is being followed in the Cleveland district to unionize the steel mills. Olchon, who knows the southeastern European languages, is in charge.

Printers' Apprentices in Sydney. SYDNEY, New South Wales, Oct. 7.—Conditions of apprenticeship in the printing industry have been determined by the Board of Trade. The general period of apprenticeship is fixed at from four to six years, with the same hours of employment as those of journeymen.

MACDONALD IS WAVERING AS FIGHT NEARS

Indications Are That He Won't Resign Today

(Special to The Daily Worker)
LONDON, Oct. 7.—The MacDonald labor government is beginning to show signs of wavering in meeting the challenge of the liberals and Tories in parliament.

It is said that there is an increasing likelihood that MacDonald will not resign and precipitate a general election despite the fact that he is bound to meet defeat on the motions of censure that will be made against his government by the combined employers' parties.

Amongst the business interests there is a growing opposition to precipitating an election contest at this time, because of the bad effect it might have on industry. This view is strengthened on account of the doubt in many minds as to the results that the Dawes plan will bring.

Election Before Christmas.
A general election before Christmas is now regarded as a certainty. It is believed that the laborite cabinet will resign after the Tory motion of censure is brought up in Commons tomorrow. MacDonald probably will ask the king to dissolve Commons and summon a national election.

When the premier appeared on the floor of the labor party conference, he outlined the "successes" of the laborite government, adding:

He Sure Didn't.
"We did not hope to create a new world out of our imagination. But we do believe that the old world is beginning to show a new response to a newly created spirit. I think we have succeeded in that."

MacDonald declared that British unemployment had been lessened and that the budget is now more favorable to the workingman. The next budget he said would be even more favorable.

He Likes Dawes' Plan.
He praised the Dawes' reparations plan, saying it gave the necessary machinery to "bring us back to wisdom."

The premier was without illusion and warned that there are still troubled waters ahead.

Then He Attacks Communism.
After attacking Communism, he turned to the liberals, declaring that former premier H. H. Asquith's speech indicated that "the liberals expected the laborites to eat out of their hand."

The liberals' inquiry motion, the premier charged, "was conceived in a spirit of medieval crookedness and torture." He continued:

"But we shall surrender nothing. If there is an election responsibility for it will not be upon us. It will have been caused by abuse of parliamentary votes. Every labor supporter will resent this chicanery."

Expects Greater Victories.
"It will make our victories at the polls more numerous. When it is time for the government to dissolve the thousands gathered here will return to their posts, no to defend, but to attack our enemies."

The conference unanimously adopted a resolution endorsing the premier's decision to oppose the Tory motion of censure and the liberal motion for an inquiry into the withdrawal of prosecution against the Communist editor.

JAPANESE ROCKEFELLER PLANS TO SPEND $750,000 ON 88TH BIRTHDAY
(Special to The Daily Worker)
TOKYO, Oct. 7.—A plan to assassinate Baron Shidehara, foreign minister, General Ugaki, war minister, and other high officials was reported today to have been revealed through the police investigation of an attack by three armed members of the Taiso (Red Blood) Society on Shidehara's secretary. The three members entered the foreign secretary's office and belabored the secretary. They said they were protesting against Shidehara's policy of neutrality in China.

The Taikoshu society which dispersed the Imperial Hotel dancers last summer, today sent a warning to Baron Okura, Japan's Rockefeller, against his reported plans of spending a million and a half yen ($750,000) in a colossal celebration of his eighty-eighth birthday, Oct. 20. The society threatened to interfere if he went forward with his plans.

Building Bolsheviks—the D. W. B. U.

World Forces Are Clashing in China

tionary. The province of Kwantung is of enormous importance as a revolutionary rallying ground, not only for China but also for the islands and the districts on the Pacific coast; this was shown by the first conference of the transport workers of the Pacific Ocean, which took place in June of this year. The imperialists, and in the first place the English imperialists, who have the greatest interest in this portion of China and possess the most efficient colonial apparatus, could not overlook these facts.

Soviet Recognition a Big Factor.
On the other hand, the recognition of the Soviet Union by the Chinese central government in Peking, which took place in spite of the efforts of the imperialists, has already begun to have its effect throughout China in the direction of a growth in the anti-imperialist movement. The recent organized League for the Struggle against Imperialism has given rise to a stormy outburst of sympathy for the national liberation movement in South China, and an equally stormy explosion of hate against the enslaving treaties of the imperialists which debase the Chinese people and exploit them in a barbarous manner. The English government has openly decided to check the process of the liberation movement in China by means of arms.

The Proceedings in Central and North China.
Simultaneously with the events in South China, there is taking place an even fiercer struggle in Central China, and according to the latest telegraphic communications there, has been drawn into this struggle all the chief forces of Southern, Central and Northern China. The immediate pretext for the struggle between the military governor of the province of Kiang-Su, Marshal Tschan-Sun-Yuan and the Governor-General of the province of Tse-Kiang, Lu-Yun-Sjan, is the dispute over the administration of Shanghai, the most important trading center of China, which has a population of 1 1/2 millions and is an important strategic point on the Pacific Ocean.

Imperialists Foment Civil War.
Shanghai belongs to the province of Kiang-Su. When, however, the former military governor of this province was appointed as governor to the neighboring province of Tse-Kiang he retained in his hands the administration of Shanghai and nominated one of his own party as chief of police of this city. The dispute of the governors of these two provinces over the administration of Shanghai has already lasted a long time; it has, however, not yet come to an armed conflict. There is no doubt that the dividing up of China into economic spheres of influence of the imperialists promotes the struggle of the Chinese military governors. The civil war in China is caused not only by the intervention of the imperialists, but also through the inner economic process. Thus, for example, the basis of Sun-Yat-Sen in South China is being continually consolidated, as is the basis of the militarist Tschan-Dso-Lin in the three northern wheat growing provinces, which explains his great independence as a military factor in the Chinese civil war.

The National Groups.
Viewed from the standpoint of the national factors in China, the struggle between the military governors of the provinces of Kiang-Su and Tse-Kiang can be regarded as a struggle between the militarist war party "Tschili," on the one side, and the "Fyntjan" group, along with the followers of the former Anfu-Club, on the other. At the head of the first clique stand Wu-Fu-Pu; at the head of the second there stands marshal Tschan-Dso-Lin and one of the oldest politicians of China, the reactionary Duan-Tsi-Dschui. These two cliques have their followers among the provincial governors of Central and South China. In the struggle which is now proceeding, the provinces of Kiang-Su, Anhwei and Fukian will openly support the Tschili party, whilst Tschan-Dso-Lin has already conducted negotiations with representatives of Sun-Yat-Sen. The reason why Sun-Yat-Sen can be drawn into this struggle lies in the fact that he is immediately threatened by the Tschili clique, while the sphere of influence of the Fyntjan group does not border geographically on the province of Kwantung. Neither Sun-Yat-Sen nor Tschan-Dso-Lin conceal the fact that in the event of a victory over the Tschili Party they will have to enter into struggle against each other.

"Divide and Conquer."
The reason of this is to be found in the fact that after the revolution of 1911, when the administration of China was dismembered by the imperialists, there set in the so-called Dudsjun system, that is, the rule of the military general governors. Since then China has ceased to exist as a uniform state and has been split up in a number of separate principalities. The movement, at the head of which stands Sun-Yat-Sen and which aims at abolishing this Dudsjun system, will at the same time promote the liberation of the working masses of China.

At the present time, when the revolutionary students and the workers' organizations form the center of the anti-imperialist movement, MacDonald, Herriot, Coolidge and the Japanese government are greatly interested in promoting inner reaction. This is why, in spite of the diverging economic interests of the imperialists in China, they are in entire agreement regarding the question of intervention, which is being openly prepared on the basis of a treaty in which the inspirer and initiator of the imperialist offensive against China at the present time is English imperialism.

Increase Size of Classes.
No indication has been made that there will be any attempts to remedy these conditions. What is suggested in a letter sent from H. H. Brackett, auditor of the Board of Education, to Julius F. Smietenka, chairman of the finance committee, is that the number of children in the class rooms be increased—teachers will tell you that their rooms are already over crowded to a point that makes teaching almost an impossibility—and that 1500 of the teachers be dropped from the payroll.

Other measures, too, are already under consideration by the superintendent and members of the board. The penny lunch room, according to Julius F. Smietenka, ought not to be continued.

"Almost every parent is in a position today to take care of his child," says Smietenka.

It is also possible that the Cook county school for boys may be dropped altogether.

The report is being considered quietly and under cover. Members of the board were mysteriously "out of town" all day yesterday. It is probable that they will remain "out of town" until the time comes to slide thru at a board meeting the new cut in the teaching staff.

What Job Loss Means.
How loss of employment affects teachers can hardly be understood unless it is remembered that years of preparation are needed to gain admittance to the system, and that the requirements differ from state to state, making it almost impossible for a teacher who has been "fired" from the system in one state to get employment in another state.

That the small militant group which has been putting up an open fight against the slave-driving tactics of William McAndrew, superintendent of schools, and against the big business board which is behind him, will be the first to feel the effects of the new "economy" is unquestioned. The revision of the budget offers an opportunity to get rid of the last remnants of self-respect and independence left to the teachers of Chicago.

Federation Officials Silent.
Officials of the Chicago Teachers' Federation met all questions as to the position which they intend to take on the employment slash in their usual non-committal manner. It is problematical whether the officialdom of the union will take any action whatsoever, in spite of the fact that the rank and file of the teachers are eager to fight the school board.

representatives of Sun-Yat-Sen. The reason why Sun-Yat-Sen can be drawn into this struggle lies in the fact that he is immediately threatened by the Tschili clique, while the sphere of influence of the Fyntjan group does not border geographically on the province of Kwantung. Neither Sun-Yat-Sen nor Tschan-Dso-Lin conceal the fact that in the event of a victory over the Tschili Party they will have to enter into struggle against each other.

"Divide and Conquer."
The reason of this is to be found in the fact that after the revolution of 1911, when the administration of China was dismembered by the imperialists, there set in the so-called Dudsjun system, that is, the rule of the military general governors. Since then China has ceased to exist as a uniform state and has been split up in a number of separate principalities. The movement, at the head of which stands Sun-Yat-Sen and which aims at abolishing this Dudsjun system, will at the same time promote the liberation of the working masses of China.

At the present time, when the revolutionary students and the workers' organizations form the center of the anti-imperialist movement, MacDonald, Herriot, Coolidge and the Japanese government are greatly interested in promoting inner reaction. This is why, in spite of the diverging economic interests of the imperialists in China, they are in entire agreement regarding the question of intervention, which is being openly prepared on the basis of a treaty in which the inspirer and initiator of the imperialist offensive against China at the present time is English imperialism.

Increase Size of Classes.
No indication has been made that there will be any attempts to remedy these conditions. What is suggested in a letter sent from H. H. Brackett, auditor of the Board of Education, to Julius F. Smietenka, chairman of the finance committee, is that the number of children in the class rooms be increased—teachers will tell you that their rooms are already over crowded to a point that makes teaching almost an impossibility—and that 1500 of the teachers be dropped from the payroll.

Other measures, too, are already under consideration by the superintendent and members of the board. The penny lunch room, according to Julius F. Smietenka, ought not to be continued.

"Almost every parent is in a position today to take care of his child," says Smietenka.

It is also possible that the Cook county school for boys may be dropped altogether.

The report is being considered quietly and under cover. Members of the board were mysteriously "out of town" all day yesterday. It is probable that they will remain "out of town" until the time comes to slide thru at a board meeting the new cut in the teaching staff.

What Job Loss Means.
How loss of employment affects teachers can hardly be understood unless it is remembered that years of preparation are needed to gain admittance to the system, and that the requirements differ from state to state, making it almost impossible for a teacher who has been "fired" from the system in one state to get employment in another state.

That the small militant group which has been putting up an open fight against the slave-driving tactics of William McAndrew, superintendent of schools, and against the big business board which is behind him, will be the first to feel the effects of the new "economy" is unquestioned. The revision of the budget offers an opportunity to get rid of the last remnants of self-respect and independence left to the teachers of Chicago.

Federation Officials Silent.
Officials of the Chicago Teachers' Federation met all questions as to the position which they intend to take on the employment slash in their usual non-committal manner. It is problematical whether the officialdom of the union will take any action whatsoever, in spite of the fact that the rank and file of the teachers are eager to fight the school board.

been drawn into this struggle all the chief forces of Southern, Central and Northern China. The immediate pretext for the struggle between the military governor of the province of Kiang-Su, Marshal Tschan-Sun-Yuan and the Governor-General of the province of Tse-Kiang, Lu-Yun-Sjan, is the dispute over the administration of Shanghai, the most important trading center of China, which has a population of 1 1/2 millions and is an important strategic point on the Pacific Ocean.

Imperialists Foment Civil War.
Shanghai belongs to the province of Kiang-Su. When, however, the former military governor of this province was appointed as governor to the neighboring province of Tse-Kiang he retained in his hands the administration of Shanghai and nominated one of his own party as chief of police of this city. The dispute of the governors of these two provinces over the administration of Shanghai has already lasted a long time; it has, however, not yet come to an armed conflict. There is no doubt that the dividing up of China into economic spheres of influence of the imperialists promotes the struggle of the Chinese military governors. The civil war in China is caused not only by the intervention of the imperialists, but also through the inner economic process. Thus, for example, the basis of Sun-Yat-Sen in South China is being continually consolidated, as is the basis of the militarist Tschan-Dso-Lin in the three northern wheat growing provinces, which explains his great independence as a military factor in the Chinese civil war.

The National Groups.
Viewed from the standpoint of the national factors in China, the struggle between the military governors of the provinces of Kiang-Su and Tse-Kiang can be regarded as a struggle between the militarist war party "Tschili," on the one side, and the "Fyntjan" group, along with the followers of the former Anfu-Club, on the other. At the head of the first clique stand Wu-Fu-Pu; at the head of the second there stands marshal Tschan-Dso-Lin and one of the oldest politicians of China, the reactionary Duan-Tsi-Dschui. These two cliques have their followers among the provincial governors of Central and South China. In the struggle which is now proceeding, the provinces of Kiang-Su, Anhwei and Fukian will openly support the Tschili party, whilst Tschan-Dso-Lin has already conducted negotiations with representatives of Sun-Yat-Sen. The reason why Sun-Yat-Sen can be drawn into this struggle lies in the fact that he is immediately threatened by the Tschili clique, while the sphere of influence of the Fyntjan group does not border geographically on the province of Kwantung. Neither Sun-Yat-Sen nor Tschan-Dso-Lin conceal the fact that in the event of a victory over the Tschili Party they will have to enter into struggle against each other.

1,500 TEACHERS MUST GO, SAYS 'BIG BIZ' RULE

New Drive by the Tax Dodgers on Schools

Fifteen hundred trained teachers in the public schools of Chicago are in danger of losing their jobs within the next few months.

These teachers may lose their jobs because the Board of Education has been unable or unwilling to prevent the theft of enormous sums by board employees; because a dozen or so rich corporations, notably Sears, Roebuck and company, avoid the taxes imposed on them by law; because half a dozen other huge firms refuse incorporation in order to avoid paying something towards the maintenance of the public schools; because a few important business men have the "corner" on the purchase of supplies, which are supposed to be obtained after competitive bidding; and because the land which the city has given over for the use of the schools has been leased for a song to various concerns, chief among these the Chicago Daily News and the Chicago Tribune.

MORE SOLDIERS CALLED OUT IN CUBAN RISING

Predict Revolution on Nation-Wide Scale

(Special to The Daily Worker)
HAVANA, Cuba, Oct. 7.—The Cuban pre-election troubles are assuming extraordinary proportions. Today President Zayas sent another train load of soldiers to help those despatched a few days ago to crush the outbreak of last Sunday.

To date, eleven have been killed and fifty-eight have been wounded.

Admits Situation Serious
 President Zayas for the first time admits that the situation is "serious." He is preparing to take energetic measures to prevent the outbreak from developing into a revolution on a national scale.

Towards this end he has ordered that no political speeches be delivered after Oct. 20th.

Interfered with Elections
 The repeated attempts of President Zayas to interfere with the election is the immediate cause of the disturbances. The Cuban president has been seeking to have a puppet as his successor.

Zayas has been a willing tool in the hands of the American capitalists, especially the railways and sugar interests.

Got $2,000 Diamond Ring.
HOLLAND, Mich., Oct. 7.—Police here today were searching for two men who held up Miss Hazel Donkey, 25, last night, pulled her from a horse she was riding, robbed her of a $2,000 diamond ring and a wrist watch and after binding her, rolled her down an embankment.

France Continues to Decline.
TOURS, France, Oct. 7.—Anatole France, famous essayist and novelist, who is critically ill, declined still further today. The pulse was 96; temperature 100. The writer is 81 years of age.

Another Omen of War.
LAKEHURST, N. J., Oct. 7.—The big air cruiser, Shenandoah, cast off from her mooring mast at the naval air station and nosed south and west on the start of the longest air voyage she has ever made at 10 o'clock today.

Spanish in Retreat.
TETUAN, Morocco, Oct. 7.—Spanish troops are expected to evacuate Tetuan and Sheshuan, recognizing the impossibility of keeping the Tetuan-Sheshuan road open against the Riffs.

MEMORABLE MEETING IS ADDRESSED BY FOSTER AT PORTLAND, OREGON

By JOSEPH MANLEY.
 (Campaign Manager, Workers Party.)
 William Z. Foster, presidential candidate of the Workers Party, held a memorable meeting at Portland, Oregon.

Portland marked the half-way point in the seventeen thousand miles of his present campaign itinerary.

Returns to Familiar Scenes.
 Foster felt very much at home in Portland. He sailed out of there as a sailor on a square-rigged ship in 1901. After two years before the mast and sailing around the globe, he returned to Portland. He lived in the railroad yards; then he took up an Oregon homestead, near Mosier and proved up on it.

Single handed he cleared twenty acres of Oregon timber and raised twelve hundred dollars worth of potatoes on the clearing. That was shortly before the 1907 panic. Foster was then a member of the socialist party and took an active part in what was to be the first left wing fight, as a leading left winger. Foster still has three sisters living in Portland, and having lived there himself for almost twelve years, he now returned to his old "stamping ground" as the Communist candidate for president.

Meeting is Enthusiastic.
 The Foster meeting held in Portland on Sunday night, Sept. 25, was the most successful and most enthusiastic meeting yet held on Foster's Pacific Coast trip. The Oddfellow's Hall was filled to capacity by an audience that had paid twenty-five cents admission each. District Organizer Norman H. Tallentire presided at the meeting. A collection of almost two hundred dollars was taken and almost fifty dollars worth of literature was sold.

For a solid two hours Foster analyzed and pilloried the capitalist institutions and the political organizations of the capitalist class, the leaders of the political groups in the present campaign. He paid special attention to Robert M. LaFollette. From beginning to end of Foster's speech the audience was riveted with attention. Time after time as he slashed into Coolidge and Davis the audience cheered loudly. His expose of LaFollette, as the saviour of the "independent businessmen" and the capitalist system was roundly applauded.

Hits Social Cancer.
 Foster said, in conclusion: "Private ownership of industry is the social cancer which is forcing workers into lives of poverty and misery. Unemployment is the sign of the breakdown of the capitalist system. There is no cure for unemployment, but the abolition of the wages system. This can only come about thru the organization of proletarians and the dictatorship of the proletariat. Communism is the hope of the world's workers."

Win Sympathetic Case.
SYDNEY, New South Wales.—The conspiracy case against seven union officials of the Transport Workers' group of the Labor Council of New South Wales, collapsed suddenly. They were arrested in connection with the holding up of the steamer Port Lyttelton in Sydney harbor. They refused to allow members of their unions to work on the vessel unless she was made seaworthy, after striking a rock. The vessel was held up at Sydney for six months because the unionists refused to carry out the repairs till certain members of the crew were released from jail.

W. P. DEBATES WITH S. L. P. IN KANSAS CITY

S. L. P. Speech Turned Into Debate

By GEORGE McLAUGHLIN
 (Special to the DAILY WORKER)
KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 7.—Verne L. Reynolds, candidate for vice president on the socialist labor party ticket was slated to speak at the Bookbinders' Hall in Kansas City. When he arrived he found about thirteen people in the hall. He was given a dodger announcing the Workers Party Gitlow meeting which is to take place at the Musicians' Hall, 1017 Washington St., Tuesday, Oct. 14, 8 p. m. He straightway challenged the Workers Party to a debate. The challenge was accepted by Comrade J. Mihelic.

Reynolds thereupon said he wished to give his regular talk first and after he finished the time would be split up for the debate, each speaker speaking once. The subject of the debate was to be resolved: That the program of the socialist labor party is correct and that of the Workers Party is wrong. Altho Reynolds said he would cut his regular talk short so as to give more time for the debate, he spoke exactly one hour and forty-five minutes. About one hour of it was taken up with the cheapest kind of slander on Wm. Z. Foster and the Workers Party.

Mihelic Replies in 30 Minutes.
 Reynolds seemed to be trying to crawl out of the debate and when he finished his regular talk he said it is getting late and suggested that Comrade Mihelic be given 30 minutes and said he would not take more than 15 minutes to reply. Altho Reynolds originally was supposed to speak first, Comrade Mihelic accepted this latter arrangement and proceeded to pepper the socialist labor program full of holes, leaving personalities entirely out of it.

Speaking of the I. W. W. Reynolds in his regular speech had said it was wrong because there was a capitalist man-made law in the way that would first have to be changed by the ballot box. Previous to that he had accused the Workers Party and socialist party of being alike in trying to use the capitalist machinery of government. Comrade Mihelic pointed out this contradiction as well as many others.

Comrade Mihelic spoke only 25 minutes but when he had finished altho Reynolds said at the start of the debate he only required 15 minutes he proceeded to take 35. The first 15 of it was taken up with the rankest kind of meaningless slander on Foster and the last ten was a general slander on the Workers Party. The rest consisted of a bunch of meaningless phrases. Because Reynolds had taken 35 minutes Comrade Mihelic requested five minutes in which to reply.

What Does S. L. P. Do?
 He defended Foster and the Workers Party splendidly and pointed out that when the big steel strike was on, the socialist labor party stayed in the background instead of making good among the masses.

Reynolds had wasted a lot of time during his regular speech and also in the debate splitting hairs and drawing pretty pictures of just how the industrial socialism was to be organized and how it would work. He also said the Workers Party could not explain this point.

"Why don't you explain it yourself," challenged Comrade Mihelic and after firing a broadside at Reynolds's silly argument Mihelic pointed out that in the recent railroad strike a Kansas City socialist labor party man scabbed on his fellow workers using the same argument as Reynolds, "We have got to break up the American Federation of Labor."

"This is the type of rats who are going around the the country slandering Foster and the Workers Party and it's a strange thing indeed that we find Sam Gompers, John L. Lewis, the socialist party, LaFollette, the capitalist press and the socialist labor party issuing the same arguments against the Workers Party," concluded Comrade Mihelic.

Still Reynolds was not satisfied and took 15 minutes more rehashing the same line of bunk as before. In the debate Reynolds took in all 50 minutes as against 30 taken by Comrade Mihelic and he made a very sorry showing thruout even tho he is one of the standard bearers of his party.

On leaving the hall I bot a copy of the socialist party weekly paper and I find that altho it is only a weekly, two-thirds of it is filled up with the same kind of cheap slander used by Reynolds and this is how the socialist labor party proposes to educate the working class.

REACTION IN CANADIAN LABOR MOVEMENT WHOOPS IT UP FOR GOVERNMENT CONTROL OF LIQUOR

(By The Federated Press)
TORONTO, Oct. 7.—The indorsement by the Canadian Trades & Labor Congress of government control and sale of liquor, as asked by the Toronto brewery workers' union, is stirring the country pro and con. It assumes special importance at the present time as there is to be a referendum as between prohibition and government control in Ontario Oct. 23.

The labor congress opposition to the resolution was limited to less than a dozen and the leaders came from Nova Scotia. Delegate McLeod of that province put the matter very strongly when he declared that "the sale of liquor simply means a greater control by the capitalist of the working class." In this he was echoing a view repeatedly voiced by officers of the United Mine Workers in Cape Breton.

"I regard this resolution as reactionary in every sense," said McLeod. "As with the questions of autonomy for the Canadian trade unions and affiliations, the congress is living up to a standard of reaction. Liquor," he added, "has created more sorrow and hardship in the homes of workingmen than any other one cause."

The delegates from Quebec, which has government control, did not vote as they did not wish to be criticized as trying to influence Ontario, a dry province at this time. They spoke, however, and protested vigorously that there was less immorality in their own province than in Ontario.

Stir the Shops!

The very best place to carry on a working class campaign is in the shops and factories where the workers gather to earn their living. It is there that minds are open to the measures, parties and candidates that stand for concrete solutions of the problems of bread and butter facing the working class. It is in the shops that the workers will see most clearly, for example, the difference between Foster, the union organizer and fighter for the workers, and LaFollette, the lawyer and fighter for the middle class. RHODE ISLAND LABOR FIGHTS BOSSES' UNION

Amoskeag 'Union' Took Ten Per Cent Cut

By ART SHIELDS
(Federated Press Staff Correspondent.)

CROMPTON, R. I., Oct. 7.—Polish workers, who predominate in the big Crompton company velvet and corduroy mills here have voted down their employer's proposal for a company union.

The company union is politely called a plan for industrial democracy by Frank Richmond, the aged owner, and he announces that he will continue the agitation until he converts the workers to the idea.

Union Fights the Plan. A stiff fight is being made against the company union idea by the Amalgamated Textile Workers' Union, which has an active local in the Pawtuxet Valley, and which recently won a strike for higher wages in the Crompton dye house.

The company union Pawtuxet Valley employers are urging is modeled after the one that has just accepted a ten per cent cut in wages in the Amoskeag works at Manchester, N. H.

It gives the employers final decision on all questions. Under the proposed plan the Crompton workers would elect only one of three bodies, a House of Representatives, a settlement of grievances effected in the House is reviewed by a Senate, which has a majority of overseers, as foremen are called here, and a minority of operatives. Final decision rests with the Cabinet, consisting of the owner and superintendent.

Workers in Fighting Mood. Unless the industrial democracy plan is put thru a wage cut in this company's plants does not seem likely in the near future. The workers are in a mood to fight back as they did in the 9-month strike of 1922 when a wage cut was defeated. And the Crompton company is relatively busy as compared to neighboring mills of the B. B. & R. Knight company, which have done nothing for months. The Crompton mills are on two reduced shifts for the weavers, spinners and carders and a 54-hour week for the dyers.

The dyers' conditions illustrate the hard lot of the New England textile

1,500,000 WORKERS WHO EARNED MEAGER LIVING ONE YEAR AGO NOW COMPLETELY OUT OF JOBS

By LELAND OLDS,
(Federated Press Industrial Editor)

Approximately 1,500,000 workers are out of a job who were earning a meager living in the factories in August, 1923. This is the true story of the August employment report of the United States department of labor which enabled President Coolidge to broadcast his republican optimism before the full figures were given to the public. The report shows employment 15 per cent below the level of a year ago and total wages down more than 17 per cent. The slight gain as compared with July was below normal seasonal expectation.

A gain in working time furnishes the only real ground for hope. This is represented by an increase of 3 per cent in the per cent of capacity operation and of 1 per cent in working time. But this means nothing more than the end of inventory vacation periods which generally occur in July.

The significant facts are that 4 per cent of the reporting establishments were altogether idle and that the remainder were operating only 88 per cent of full time and 77 per cent of full capacity. That means that the factories of the country in August were turning out less than 68 per cent of their normal full-time output.

The real situation is reflected in the table which shows for the major industrial divisions the per cent decrease in employment from a year ago and the per cent of full-time capacity operated during the month of August.

INDUSTRY	Employment decrease	Pct. of normal output
Food and kindred products	17	62
Textiles and their products	17	62
Iron and steel and products	22	58
Lumber and its products	3	76
Leather and its products	13	64
Paper and printing	1	81
Chemicals, allied products	15	63
Stone, clay, glass products	7	77
Metal products, not iron	12	58
Tobacco products	1	72
Vehicles for land transport	17	72
Miscellaneous	17	63

Such figures reflect a depression in manufacturing industry which the worker who is supposed to be enjoying the benefits of a republican tariff and other G. O. P. legislation. The 54-hour week is part of their republican comforting. A 48-hour week law was invalidated when a republican secretary of state failed to sign it.

And the dye house workers' full dinner pail, such as he can fill on an average wage of $23 a week, he has to empty in the intervals of work. He gets no time off for lunch in the Crompton mill. The dyeing machinery must be kept going, so the worker has to grab his food as he can, without taking time to rest or to clean off the poisonous chemicals in which he toils.

FRAME-UP ON NORWAY REDS IN U. S. STYLE

All Officials Indicted in Drive on Communists

(Special to The Daily Worker)

CHRISTIANIA, Norway, Oct. 7.—Efforts to swing the Norwegian trade unions solidly for the Amsterdam international have failed.

Following a campaign of frame-up and terror without precedent in Norway, and which seems to have been patterned after similar campaigns against the reds in America the reactionaries failed to get the support of the unions in the key industries.

The failure of the enemies of the unions to swing the bulk of the key unions for Amsterdam is surprising, due to the fact that the Communist party of Norway, reorganized a short time ago in accordance with instructions of the Communist International, is no longer a party of unions but of the flexible character prescribed by the Communist International, composed of known revolutionists.

The officials of the Communist Party have all been indicted previous to a general election.

This was a deliberate move on the part of the government to hamper the party in the election campaign and since their indictment obvious attempts to prejudice the masses against them have been made. The authorities claimed to have found dynamite placed to destroy the water supply of Aker, a suburb of Christiania and accused the Communists of the crime.

Following this event, the government "discovered" nineteen dynamite cartridges under the floor of the prosecuting attorney's office and again accused the Communists of plotting terrorism.

Orders for the arrest of all the Communist officials have been issued as a climax to the persecution of the party.

The attitude of the government has done much to heal the breach in the ranks of the revolutionary movement that expressed itself in the split in the party last year.

Pennsylvania Censors Change Minds About 'Beauty & Bolshevik'

(Special to The Daily Worker)

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 7.—After turning down the new Russian comedy-drama, "Beauty and Bolshevik," the Pennsylvania state board of motion picture censors reconsidered the decision and permitted the showing to go on with a few minor title changes.

The picture will be shown at the Lulu Temple, Saturday, Oct. 11, and it is confidently expected that its success will be fully up to the mark set by all previous pictures. The action of the censors in almost barring the labor film greatly increased the interest in the picture. In every case where there is censorship opposition large crowds are attracted that would otherwise remain indifferent. In Philadelphia picture shows have always been exceptionally successful so those who want to be sure of seeing this feature film will do well to buy their tickets in advance at the local office, 521 York Ave.

Iowa Klan is Split.

MARION, Ia., Oct. 7.—Difficulties which are said to have resulted in the revoking of the charter of the Ku Klux Klan in this county and the removal of all officers will be discussed here tonight at a meeting of more than 3,000 members of the independent Klan, formed following the split with the parent organization. The dissension is said to have resulted from efforts of the Iowa domain of the Klan to swing members of that organization behind W. J. Burbank, Klan gubernatorial candidate.

Would Dodge Eight-Hour Act.

VANCOUVER, B. C.—The lumber bosses are working tooth and nail to postpone the operation of the 8-hour day legislation which is to go into effect in British Columbia, Jan. 1, 1925. The latest move to annul the legislation is the compiling of lists of workers working more than 48 hours weekly and to press claims that they should not come under the provisions of the act because they are either "temporary exceptions" to the provisions of the act or "exceptional cases" to be permanently excluded from the legislation. There are in all approximately 35,000 workers in this province who will be affected by the act.

Cop Guilty of Attacking Girl.

Indirect confirmation of labor union charges that Chicago policemen were brutal and offensive in their treatment of girl pickets in the dressmakers' strike of last spring is seen by unionists in the conviction of Thomas Guilfoyle who attacked a girl in the city hall while he was still on the Chicago police force. The jury convicted him in five minutes. The sentence will be 1 to 14 years in prison. Guilfoyle is appealed.

AMERICAN GOLD IS FINANCING PEKING TROOPS

Flashlight Thrown on Chinese Situation

(Special to The Daily Worker)

MOSCOW, Russia, Oct. 7.—M. Melnikov, chief of the far eastern department of the Soviet foreign office, throws an interesting flashlight on sinister forces at work behind the scenes in the present Chinese conflict. He lays considerable responsibility at the feet of the United States government, which, he says, is fostering the Chinese war for its own ends.

"Definite proofs that American government gold is behind the Peking group in the present struggle is naturally impossible to supply," said Melnikov. "But every known fact points in that direction. Anglo-American investments and enterprises are all wrapped up in the progress of this group, and Americans only support it."

"For proof of participation of Americans in the struggle we need only to point to the fact that the foreign negotiations in Peking under Anglo-American leadership have agreed to maintain peace in the central capital, thus enabling Wu Pei-fu to withdraw troops from there and fling them into the battle line. In effect, that is the same as if the United States directly moved troops into line."

Russia's Position.

In explanation of Russia's position towards China, Melnikov made the following enlightening diagnosis of the Chinese situation:

"Fundamentally, the present Chinese conflict is a struggle between Japanese interests on the one hand and British and American interests on the other. As Great Britain and the United States possess greater resources than does Japan, they probably will win."

"While the Russian people have sympathy with certain Chinese groups, and say so, the Soviet government takes no part. We stand by the provision of our Chinese treaty, which we mean to observe. The Chinese must fight out their domestic differences between themselves. It is their business to settle their internal disputes without foreign intervention."

For Complete Independence. "Russia stands for the complete independence of China and complete freedom from restrictions upon that independence, whether thru the maintenance of foreign extraterritorial rights or by other means. Admittedly the condition of China presents many difficulties for other countries. The weakness of the central government makes it difficult to secure respect for treaty provisions in the outer provinces. We know this to be a fact, for it is true of our own treaty with China. Still, foreign intervention would only do harm."

"At the beginning Chang Tso-lin declared himself against the enforcement of parts of our treaty, including the problem of the Chinese Eastern railway. Now he has changed his views entirely. However, we have to maintain some relations with Chang Tso-lin, for he is the real ruler over a great area consisting of three outer provinces which border for a long distance on our country."

"How far Japan supports Chang Tso-lin we do not know, but it is common knowledge that Japan is permitting him to use the South Manchurian railroad for the movement of his troops."

Fight Continues. A hall for a huge mass meeting is to be secured at an early date and prominent speakers will be on the program. It is planned to wage a campaign for free speech and free assembly that will settle once and for all the question of the rights of the masses in Paterson.

Meanwhile the picket line remains unbroken and the silk bosses are being taught a lesson of workers solidarity that they will never forget.

POLICE CZAR OF PATERSON IS SHOWN UP

Workers Party Calls His Latest Bluff

(Special to THE DAILY WORKER)

PATERSON, N. J., Oct. 7.—The Workers Party has become a major issue in the strike of the silk workers here. Chief of Police Tracey, in closing the halls of Paterson to the strikers, declared that his action was based upon the fact that H. M. Wicks, of the Workers Party, had been delivering objectionable speeches. The intention was to make it appear that the Workers Party was an obstacle to the conduct of the strike.

In order to force a showdown the Workers Party instructed Wicks to insist that he be withdrawn from the list of speakers by the strike committee and thus put squarely up to the chief of police the closing of the halls.

The strike committee, in special session, and after long debate, agreed to the proposition and issued the following statement:

"While the committee feels that its rights and the rights of free speech have been violated by the chief, we realize that our main task at this time is to win the strike and we cannot stop to engage in a fight that would detract from the main issue."

"We want it distinctly understood that the action of the committee was a request of Wicks and not initiated by anyone else."

This statement was published in the Paterson Call on Thursday morning, and the committee selected to call upon the chief of police and demand the opening of Turn Hall. The committee discussed the matter with Tracey for several hours, but was unable to get any satisfaction.

Tracey declared that he would not open the hall, thus proving conclusively that his object is to break the strike, and that he was using the attack upon the Workers Party as a subterfuge in order to demoralize the ranks of the strikers.

The newspapers have been carrying screaming headlines day after day to the effect that it was Communist participation in the leadership of the strike that is responsible for Tracey's action. The action of the party in voluntarily withdrawing Wicks as a speaker is considered a strategic move of the first magnitude because it exposed the real motives of the chief of police.

Strike Committee Acts.

The emergency committee met and discussed the latest developments and decided to demand that the chief of police open Turn Hall or Wicks would speak at a meeting to be arranged somewhere in Paterson in defiance of the closing orders of the chief. Wicks himself issued a statement to the public and the strikers regarding his attitude in which the history of the strike, his own participation in it, the attitude of the capitalist press and the illegal activities of the police are given in detail.

He declares it is his intention to carry on the fight for free speech in Paterson and he has the full support of the Workers (Communist) Party of America and the Civil Liberties Union in this struggle.

Fight Continues.

A hall for a huge mass meeting is to be secured at an early date and prominent speakers will be on the program. It is planned to wage a campaign for free speech and free assembly that will settle once and for all the question of the rights of the masses in Paterson.

Meanwhile the picket line remains unbroken and the silk bosses are being taught a lesson of workers solidarity that they will never forget.

The End of Fascism

The French authorities, at the request of the Italian consul, are holding a member of the Italian Fascisti accused of complicity in the murder of Matteotti.

Contrast the present zeal of the Italian authorities in running down the degenerates whose crime shocked the world with the unyielding attitude at first taken by the head of the Fascist government.

Mussolini and Italian Fascism are nearing the end of their rope and if resentment expressing itself in revolutionary organization continues to grow in Italy, as it doubtless will, this may turn out to be more than a figure of speech.

In Paterson

The Workers (Communist) Party of America has out-manuevered in Paterson a specimen of one of the sub-orders of vermin that infest every American city dominated by a particular industry.

The Workers Party has now withdrawn its speakers voluntarily and the strike committee has issued a statement explaining the situation.

The fight is being carried on with redoubled vigor and the party has gained in prestige while the police chief and his overlords are finding it unable in setting up another smoke-screen with which to hide the basic issues in the strike.

Morgan Says "Yes"

The power behind the throne of American politics and the uncrowned king of Europe, Mr. J. P. Morgan, has just issued a statement to the world assuring it that the Yankee financiers will do their bit in putting over the Dawes loan.

This announcement is of extraordinary significance. No one expected Mr. Morgan to say No, after the American financiers turned the London conference into marionette show doing the bidding of Wall Street.

Mr. Morgan is speaking for the composite class interests of the American industrial and financial overlords. He is the agent plenipotentiary of American imperialism in Europe.

The DAILY WORKER is giving its readers a thoroughgoing analysis of the Dawes plan and all its implications and dangers for the workers.

At the convention of the American Bankers' Association, Mr. Woodruff, President of the National Bank of the Republic, told his colleagues to be fully prepared for all eventualities.

And then Mr. Woodruff urged the banking solons to grapple their loins for a fight for lower wages. This is an essential, the unwritten part, of the whole Dawes scheme.

They Pay Him For This!

The manufacturing capacity of our country is now highly developed and is far ahead of our ability to distribute effectively and economically.

In fact it has become far more than a mechanical or economic problem. It is rapidly becoming a social—almost a spiritual problem—which can only be solved when everyone involved in it realizes his position and his responsibility and undertakes a veritable crusade to cut sales costs and reduce selling expense.

The gentleman whose name is signed to the above undoubtedly rejects the materialistic conception of history—if he knows what it is—and would resent any insinuation that his effusion (part of his latest bulletin to business men) was motivated by the present serious crisis facing American industry.

Babson is a sort of oracle for American business. He is paid a large amount of money for telling his clients why business is good or bad, but his real caliber is indicated by his proposed solution of the problem of over-production.

In the Babsonian world there is no room for the theory of surplus value. Every one gets what he is worth and cheap production is the panacea for all ills.

In America, where cheap standardized production has developed the most efficient industry in the world, and where distribution is organized until it works with machine-like smoothness, we face a crisis growing out of the simple fact that the markets are glutted.

The day of the Babsons is drawing to a close. American industry faces an impasse. There is not enough consuming power granted the workers under the wage system to absorb the flood of products that they turn out with the specialized machinery owned by their rulers.

Fortunately for the working class, the law of capitalism compels the industrial and financial lords to struggle always for cheaper production—to wage war on the living standards of the workers and force them to fight back.

It sure requires intelligence of a high order to be an advisor to the American businessman.

Communist advice to the exploited victims of Babson's clientele required more intelligence to formulate, but it is simple enough to be easily understood: "All Power to the Workers!"

Birds of a Feather

Mr. William English Walling, once officially on the roster of the Socialist Party, and now in the same camp with Hillquit and Berger fighting for LaFollette, is doing precisely what we said a few days ago he would do.

The vicious foe of the class conscious workers of the United States and every country in the world is now a full-fledged democrat—locally at least. Mr. Walling who only a few days ago called down Spargo for jumping on the republican bandwagon has decided to take another leap himself—backward of course.

Here we have a very interesting phenomenon taking its full course. Mr. Walling is the chief and vilest propagandist of Mr. Gompers at work in disrupting the labor movement.

This is the Mr. Walling that is the sworn enemy of the Soviet Republic. This is the Mr. Walling who is doing a magnificent work for the open-shoppers in the office of the Executive Council of the American Federation of Labor.

Mr. Walling promises to vote with the democrats in Congress. He promises to be "progressive." His evolution is complete. The socialists had better rejoice at the inspiring company they find themselves in today in their most ignoble efforts to send the Walling-Gompers-LaFollette-Wheeler-Spreckles-Vanderlip alliance into power.

Steel, Finance and War

By WILLIAM F. DUNNE.

In an interview given September 30, secretary of the treasury Mellon gives plenty of evidence that the Dawes plan is the joint enterprise of American finance and industrial capitalists.

The dual problem that the Dawes plan must solve, apart from the stabilization of European capitalism, is to find an outlet for the flood of gold that has accumulated in the coffers of our capitalists, and which, with its ever present threat of inflation, seriously hampers American capitalism.

The second part of the problem is how to revive European and particularly German industry without disorganizing American production by reason of a flood of cheap commodities produced by European workers for starvation wages.

It is almost needless to say that no consideration for the American workers enters into this desire to prevent the swamping of American industry. It is a desire dictated solely by the fact that in spite of more or less careless talk about the domination by finance capital, the basis of American capitalism is heavy industry—iron and steel and kindred products.

It is at this point that the observations of Andrew Mellon become of interest. Here is what he says:

- 1. The American steel industry is not endangered by foreign competition even though under the Dawes plan the furnaces of Belgium, Northern France and the Ruhr operate to capacity. 2. Some competition is expected from European steel in the Atlantic seaboard markets but foreign producers cannot undersell American manufacturers in interior markets because of freight rates which local plants do not have to pay.

The Imperialist View. We may take it for granted, I think, that these statements which could have been made only after considerable deliberation, represent the view of a powerful section of American capitalists as to the effects on basic industry in America of the operation of the Dawes plan.

Where Control Counts. But our imperialists do not intend to lose any of their proportion of world trade—they intend to increase it. American capitalists will be in control of German industry for the simple reason that they are furnishing most of the money needed to revive it.

Great Britain is the only powerful rival of American imperialism. Just as American imperialism is based on the production of iron and steel so is the imperialism of Great Britain and the Dawes plan is a sword pointed straight at its heart with the hilt in the hands of the most brutal and powerful group in the world—the American capitalist class.

England's coal and steel and ship-building industry are in ruins as a result of her "victory" over Germany and the collapse of the world markets. She has no immense domestic market to bulwark her iron and steel trade as have the American capitalists.

Revival of the German steel industry will hurt Great Britain more than any other nation and she can expect little mercy from the representatives of American capital on the experts committee. Her navy and her mercantile marine need fuel oil but again she encounters the rivalry of American imperialism and this rivalry will not be forgotten by the hardboiled committee of American capitalists when it is a question of her markets or theirs that are to suffer from a flood of German commodities.

Another indication of the ever-increasing antagonism between what the proponents of Nordic superiority like to refer to as "the two great Anglo-Saxon nations" is found in the remarkably frank expression of resentment aroused in our imperialist press by the support accorded Japan by Great Britain at Geneva recently.

More Straws. Another indication of the ever-increasing antagonism between what the proponents of Nordic superiority like to refer to as "the two great Anglo-Saxon nations" is found in the remarkably frank expression of resentment aroused in our imperialist press by the support accorded Japan by Great Britain at Geneva recently.

Japanese imperialists are the enemies of American imperialists in the Pacific and Britain must either give up her alliance with Japan and weaken her position in China or face the possibility of desertion of her dominions. All of which is grist in the mill of American imperialism.

The Line of Struggle. Perhaps some one will say that we place too much faith in the ability of the American capitalists to protect their markets but nothing is farther from our mind. We are interested here in discovering the general line of development of the imperialist struggle, of determining the intent behind all the lovely phrases like "bringing peace to Europe," "repairing the wreckage of war," etc. that are used to disguise the real purpose of the Dawes plan.

Not should we be understood as saying that the operation of the plan will have no effect on the wages and working condition of American workers. It will. The bogey of German competition will be raised and the industrial depression that is here, without any assistance from the Dawes plan, will be used to beat down wages and club the American working class into the state of subjection and helplessness so necessary for the bloody purposes of imperialism.

The Big Issue. The vitally important thing in connection with the establishment of American capitalist hegemony over continental Europe is the impetus it gives to the rivalries between American and British imperialism—the threat of war that every provision of the plan breathes.

Trotsky in a recent speech, put forward the idea of a sort of United States of Europe as the last resort of European capitalism in the struggle against the domination of American imperialism. The chief obstacle to this new alignment is the rivalry between French and British capitalism but one thing is certain—the extension of American imperialist rule must sooner or later bring some sort of unity between the nations that pay tribute to American supremacy.

British imperialism fights for its life and it can be depended upon to seek and secure allies.

The Dawes plan is not a match thrown into a powder magazine. It is rather a heavy mass of inflammable material thrown on live coals. It smothers them for a while, no heat whatever can be felt. But the destructive forces are present and later the whole mass bursts into flames.

So it will be with Europe and America unless in the meanwhile the power of the imperialists is wrested from them by the working class.

Famine Reports in Soviet Russia

By ISRAEL AMTER.

RICIDIOUS, unfounded reports about a "famine" in Soviet Russia are filling the American capitalist papers—and unfortunately also the revolutionary press.

Crops were bad this year in the southeastern part of the country and in the Ukraine. The Volga, which experienced a devastating drought in 1921 has been attacked again. The Ukraine has had the same fate. But in neither case is the drought to compare with 1921. There has been reduced production. Had the situation been the same as in 1921, the peasants would have had no seed for sowing.

But we are living in the year 1924. The Soviet government is better able to take care of such catastrophes as droughts. The railways are working well. Hence there is and will be no famine. No such thing occurred as peasants eating "roots and grass." This is purest fabrication. The peasants were frightened, since they still had in mind the experience of 1921. Had they eaten their crops, there would have been no seed for next year. As soon, however, as the government was apprised of the seriousness of the drought, it made preparations for providing seed to the peasants, who will not pay for it for three or four or five years, according to the condition of the peasant. There is plenty of grain in Soviet Russia. The crops turned out 8 per cent less than last year; there are stores of seed for such emergencies. The peasants, therefore, ate their own store and waited for the seed.

In August, Comrade Rykov made a tour of the Volga, going far out into the country, to review the situation. Before his arrival the seed was on hand. The peasants were also promised funds and later products to help them over the winter.

In the Ukraine the situation was not nearly so serious. The peasants will be pinched for the winter, but will get help. To be sure, the rich peasants are complaining. They expect the same aid as the poor peasants—but it will not be forthcoming. They have grain in their sheds. They have funds with which to get seed. They try to evade their taxes—but the improvements on their farms show that they are not suffering.

In addition to the widespread assistance which the Soviet government is giving to the poor peasants, there will be more than 1,000,000 tons of grain for export. This is less than had been hoped for, but Soviet Russia will get thru without any difficulty. The statement in a recent issue of the "Isvestia" and "Pravda" that the British loan which is sorely needed to build up industry, will not be accepted on the usurious terms that will be forced on Germany, demonstrates clearly that Soviet Russia is capable of dealing with all the problems confronting her. Neither drought nor Georgian uprisings paid for and instigated by international imperialism—and put down by the workers and peasants of Georgia themselves,—nor part of Danzig port which has been granted to Poland by the League of Nations, for the erection of a munitions depot—clearly against Soviet Russia; nor Liberal and Conservative haranguing in England against the Anglo-Russian treaty; nor a Finnish-Lettish pact against Soviet Russia; nor a thrust against Soviet Russia in the East thru intervention in China, can touch Soviet Russia. We are living in the year 1924—and Soviet Russia of the Workers, Peasants and Red Soldiers can meet all the problems facing them. A serious drought and famine would have pleased the world imperialists. But there is no famine.
